TARIFF BILL PERILED

SILVER SENATORS WILL ENDEAVOR TO DESTROY ITS OBJECT.

If They Do Not Load It with Amendments, They May Talk Until It Is Worthless as an Emergency Bill.

Table Prepared by Mr. Carlisle Showing Bidders the Rate of Interest New Bonds Will Realize.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 .- The Republican members of the Senate find themselves in a curious predicament. Through the perniclous activity of Senator Teller, of Colorado; and a handful of his free-silver Republican associates, the Republican Senators will soon be vindicating by their actions the disgraceful course pursued by the Democratic Senators who two years ago were in charge of the Wilson tariff bill. It was the constant excuse of the Democratic members that the Democratic majority in the Senate was so small that they were compelled | ized to have printed the extra notes thus to yield to every Democrat who made some protectionist concession the price of his vote for the bill. Messrs. Teller, Baker, pursuing the identical course now with regard to the Dingley emergency tariff bill. The Republican members of the finance Democratic Senators announce semi-official-ly that they will not fillbuster against the Sections 5175 to 5186, inclusive, and Sections bill, but will content themselves with a negative vote. Come now the free-silver Republicans and declare that while they will not prevent the committee from reporting the bill in its original shape, they will insist on amendments being made in the Senate, and in the event of the committee's refusal they will vote against the bill. The conditions that brought about the Gorman-Wilson nondescript are being exactly paralleled, and the free-silver Senators are furnishing the so-called "conservative" Senators who framed the odious Senate tariff bill with a glorious vindication. The Republican Senators recognize that the majority by which the bill can pass the Senate is only one, or, at the most, two. Hence the refusal of a single demand by any recalcitrant Republican will down the bill. Therefore, the Republican Senators fear that the finance committee will in the open Senate be compelled to surrender by permitting amendments which are certain to kill the bill. If the silver Senators insist on their amendments and the Senators in charge of the bill yield to them, as they must, then the Democrats will of course be compelled to deviate from their present proposed policy of passive resistance, and a tariff debate will arise that will continue for weeks, and which, even if the bill in some shape should survive, would make a veto inevitable. Thus the Republican silver Senators propose to destroy the object of the bill, which was to quickly raise revenue in an emergency which makes additional rev-

Mr. Carlisle Shows What Bidders May

Expect to Realize on Bonds. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 .- The treasury today lost $1,625,000 in gold, of which $1,250,000 was for export. This leaves the true amount of the gold reserve $55,100,164. The Secretary of the Treasury to-day prepared and gave out for publication a table showing the amount which should be bid for the new 4-per-cent, bonds maturing Feb. 1. 1925, on Feb. 1, 1896, in order that the investor may realize any rate of interest between 21/2 per cent. and 4 per cent. per an-

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.-Representative Overstreet is greatly gratified at the action | lin, of the Church of the Covenant. of the appropriations committee in siriking out of the pension appropriation bill the Stone amendment, making a pension a vested right. Mr. Overstreet recognized Omaha's Defaulting Treasurer Taken that the point of order prohibiting new legislation on an appropriation bill would He against the proposed amendment, and he feared that the effect of a set-back thus administered might prove serious when he will bring the measure before the House as a separate bill. His arguments with the appropriations committee prevailed and the amendment was dropped.

Representative Watson returned to Washington to-day, arriving at the House just in time to answer to his name when the important amendment making the committee on coinage, weights and measures and banking and currency privileges commit-tees was voted on. Mr. Watson has been long time, but as Bolln's bondsmen appeared quite ill. THEIR INTEGRITY IMPEACHED. GOMEZ TURNS ABOUT INTO THE Charges Against Gov. Hughes and Other Officers of Arizona.

> PHOENIX, A. T., Jan. 10.-Governor Hughes stands charged with official corruption and his personal reputation for integrity and honesty is impeached by a report of the last grand jury. Official crimes of malfeasance are alleged, and the whole business is likely to create a storm in Congress when it will be called up, unless the allegations are met in the local courts. Among those implicated are Territorial Auditor Leitch and Myron H. McCord, an ex-Congressman from Wisconsin. These three constitute the Territorial Board of Control, the two associates being appointed by the Governor. The grand jury report al leges misappropriation of territorial funds. No indictment was returned on the ground that the district autorney thought that such action would not be expedient. It is also reported that, on account of the revelations, the Governor is to be removed and his course be formally investigated by order of the President. Inspectors Oliver and Dun-can last spring made a rigid investigation of the territorial affairs, with the result that the matter will be laid before Congress through the committee on Territories, and another open inquiry asked for the benefit declared all along that the federal appointees have been using their high positions for their own emolument, with little or no regard for the citizens.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 10 .- The joint saucus of the Democratic Legislature was caucus was called, and before it was half ber of McCreary men had bolted the caucus and were not present, Those who declined to be bound by the caucus were Senators Weissinger, Hayward, Holloway and Elliston and Representatives Cahill, Carroll, Johns, Norman, Rich, Speight, Stout, Walker, White and Violett-four Senators and ten Representatives. Senator Bronston, of Lexington, moved to proceed at once to nominate a Senator. Representative Force, of Shelby, leader of McCreary's forces, arose and said he had witnessed here to-night what he had never expected to see in a Democratic caucus in Kentucky. It was evident that the nomination of this caucus, under the circumstances, would amount to nothing, fourteen members having refused to participate in it. He proposed the caucus adjourn without voting for Senator. This was voted down, 13 to 38.

Senator Bronston placed Senator Blackburn in nomination in a twenty-minute speech. This was seconded by Senators Elmore and Taylor and Representative Graziana. Senator Stephenson, chairman of the caucus, nominated Congressman James B. McCreary. Representative Force seconded mination. The voting was then ordered. Ex-Governor Brown, according to promise, received some complimentary votes. The final result, as announced, was: Blackburn, 37; McCreary, 13; Brown, 6. Senators Bronston and Martin and Representative Thorne were appointed to conduct Blackburn to the caucus, where he spoke eloquently and was given an ovation. Isaac Wilson. In doing so, however, he will cause the disruption of the Conservative party, as at present organized, as the bolters from the Ministry are opposing his every effort. At best, the Premier can only get together a makeshift Ministry, whose object in assuming control of the affairs of state is to carry through the policy of the govern-ment laid down in the speech from the throne. Chief among the measures pro-posed is that of remedial legislation for the minority in Manitoba. Should it be of a drastic nature its defeat and the downfall of the Premier is considered certain. their circulation to 90 per cent. of the bonds deposited. A bill authorizing circulation issue to the par value of the bonds was perfected in both branches of Congress last year, but failed of action. This year the bill has again been introduced in the House by Representative Johnson, of Indiana, who, being a prominent member of the banking and currency committee, to which committee the bill was referred, has been earnest in pushing his measure to success. It is understood that the subcommittee to which the bill was referred in committee will make a favorable report to the full committee, and that the latter will make a strong report to the House, urging its adoption. There is, furthermore, good reason to believe that Speaker Reed favors the measure, and that the rules committee will accordingly name a day for consideration and vote. In this event the bill will pass the House, and there is good ground for hope that, in spite of the Populists and free-silver men in the Senate, a vote can be obtained in that body. Senator Nelson to-day introduced a or the general revision of the national banking laws. It provides for decreasing the capital required of banks in cities of fewer than 50,000 inhabitants.
